Secret U.S. Analysis:

China Shies From Viet Attack

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Secret government studies here indicate Mao Tse-tung's Red China won't invade Viet Nam openly with armies or sizable plane attacks at this time regardless of what military targets the United States bombs in North Viet Nam.

These studies were completed and digested before the U.S. bombed oil storage facilities on the outskirts of Hanoi and Haiphong.

One reason Red China is believed unlikely to seek adventure now is that there is a serious split within the Communist Chinese army.

One group of high officers insists that if the Red army is to be expected to stand up to major Western armies, it must modernize with considerable amounts of modern missile and nuclear equipment. They say it would take more than guerrilla tactics to stand off the United States. This defies Mao's precepts.

Top men have already been purged over this problem.—but it hasn't died.

Because of Red China's serious economic problems, party leaders know funds can't be diverted for drastic army modernization. These party leaders insist Communist spirit is the answer to modern enemy weapons. They say if the army's spirit is strengthened, it can stand up against any enemy.

So long as this army struggle continues, it's believed, Peking will not be prepared to test Red China's armies in a gamble that might involve the United States.

The army is not Mao Tse-tung's only problem.

The current political turmoil inside Red China is serious. It involves more than the intellectuals being attacked. There is widespread dissatisfaction among farmers. Many local party officials are out of hand. There is student unrest.

Some totalitarian countries react to internal trouble by becoming more reckless. They turn to foreign wars to divert their people from internal miseries.

The U.S. studies, however, show that Mao's tactic is different. He likes a firm base. When he runs into serious domestic problems, his domestic and foreign policies become more cautious.

Mao's aids may make extremely belligerent speeches, but his moves are carefully planned. The military attacks on India and the Korean adventure came at times of firm political "calm" within Communist China.

At home and abroad, Red China was active but very cautious for a while after the breakdown of the communes, the failure of the Great Leap Forward and during the period of strong peasant unrest which followed.

Tung Chi-ping, the young Peking attache in Burundi who defected, makes note of the internal "leniency" period which followed the Great Leap collapse.

Tung reports that in his college the informer system was temporarily "abandoned," militia drills dropped, criticism and struggle meetings cut back. There was less punishment for wrong thinking.

Tung points out that in Red China periods of "leniency" and periods of toughness alternate. When things are going well, the party tightens political and thought controls and increases persecutions. When things are going poorly, the party "eases up" temporarily at home and takes fewer chances abroad.

Johnson Claims Reds Know They Can't Win

Says Solution To Vietnamese Matter Coming

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, declaring the Communists know they cannot win a military victory in Viet Nam, has voiced optimism that "we are on the way" to solving the Vietnamese problem.

Johnson planned a series of Viet Nam conferences at his ranch home near here tonight, summoning Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and other military and diplomatic advisers for an overnight business visit.

The President expressed an optimistic view of the war during a news conference Tuesday on the front lawn of his ranch — a session preceded by a barbecue buffet lunch served by Mrs. Johnson and daughter Luci.

Taking the wraps off a top secret message from the Pentagon, Johnson cited estimates that stepped-up bombing raids on the Hanoi-Haiphong area have wiped out 57 per cent of North Viet Nam's petroleum storage facilities. He said 87 per cent of all storage capacity has been hit during the raids that began last week.

Plans Political Travel

Other conference highlights:

—Discussing racial problems, Johnson indirectly chided militant Negro leaders by asserting: "We are not interested in black power and we are not interested in white power, but we are interested in American democratic power, with a small 'd.'" Some militants have raised "black power" as a battle cry.

—Turning to politics, the President said "as time permits, I will be traveling throughout the country" in the four months between now and the November elections. He said that if he continues his recent travel rate, he could cover all 50 states by late October.

—The latest budget deficit, he reported, will be "far below" the $6.4-billion estimate he gave Congress in January. He said final figures for the fiscal year that ended June 30 aren't yet available, however.

Ordnance Ample

In one of his opening announcements at the conference, the first since last August to be broadcast live by the television-radio networks, Johnson disclosed tentative plans to cut down planned purchases of bombs and ammunition for Viet Nam.

He said McNamara tells him substantial reductions in projected production rates may be desirable within three to six months, at a savings of several hundred million dollars.

Right now, Johnson said, ordnance inventories are ample and production exceeds usage in Viet Nam. He said he doesn't want to be stuck with $12 billion of worthless and obsolete military hardware when the war ends — which he said was the case after the Korean War.

Asked if this meant the major part of the Viet Nam buildup was history, he replied, "No. I wouldn't make such an evaluation." He said more men and materiel will be dispatched to the war zone and, later added: "We have a policy of measured response and gradually increasing our strength from time to time. We plan to continue that."

Johnson's optimism about the progress of the war cropped up several times. He said at one point that while he was aware of the dangers of speculation, "our diplomatic reports indicate that the opposing forces no longer really expect a military victory in South Viet Nam."

At still another point, he said: "If we could only solve the problem in Viet Nam, and we think we are on the way to doing that, we could have a world that is rather peaceful and generally prosperous."

US Warplanes Dodge Missiles Over Red River

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — American warplanes dodged 27 to 29 Soviet-made missiles over North Viet Nam Tuesday during one of the heaviest raiding days of the war, a U.S. spokesman announced.

It was the largest number of surface-to-air missiles expended in one day by the Communists, but the American spokesman said none of the American raiders was hit by the SAMs.

The missiles were fired from sites in the Red River Valley 50 to 115 miles north and northwest of Hanoi. U.S. Air Force pilots reported wrecking four of the sites and also hitting two fuel depots within 33 miles of the North Vietnamese capital.

One of the oil storage areas was 28 miles north of Hanoi, the other 33 miles northwest.

Air Force and carrier-based Navy jets flew a total of 106 multiplane missions, a new high in the 16-month air war. But a spokesman said the missions did not involve a record number of planes.

A mission usually involves three or four planes which may make several sorties or single strikes against targets.

"It was a high day for sorties, but not a record day," the spokesman said.

The raiding fighter-bombers also hammered at bridges, barracks, storage areas, antiaircraft sites and other installations in the southern panhandle as well as the Red River Valley.

In the only major ground action reported, a government regiment of about 3,000 men clashed four times with Communist forces 62 miles southwest of Saigon Tuesday. A spokesman said the Vietnamese troops killed 83 Viet Cong and captured a 57mm recoilless rifle, four machine guns and 27 other weapons. He said government casualties were light.

Hoffa Accused Of Power Grab

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — James R. Hoffa kept other high Teamsters Union officials in the dark today about whether he will keep his promise to resign as president of the giant union if he goes to prison.

"He wouldn't resign if he had two machine guns pointed at him," snorted one member of the powerful Teamsters executive board which Hoffa so far has kept from open rebellion.

"He's made that commitment and I think he will," said another board member of Hoffa's promise to quit if he loses appeals on his federal jury-tampering and mail-fraud convictions.

The question is crucial in the power struggle shaping up among the 13 Teamsters vice presidents despite Hoffa's denial of any dispute in the union hierarchy.

Hoffa prepared today to gavel through constitutional changes boosting his salary from $75,000 to $100,000 a year, authorizing the union to pay his huge legal expenses and empowering him to assign his duties to a new general vice president.

Despite the outward appearance of solidarity at the Teamsters convention, the private grumbling in the union's top echelon grew louder over Hoffa's open attempt to keep control of the world's biggest and richest union by one means or another.

"The hell with our enemies," Hoffa yelled and some 2,000 delegates stood and gave him a cheering vote of confidence.

"Let that be an answer to our enemies and those stupid individuals who think they can divide us with their filthy propaganda," Hoffa said.

But the major question dividing other high Teamsters officials appeared to be caused by Hoffa himself in a series of complicated changes in the union's constitution.

They aren't sure just how Hoffa will try to perpetuate his nine-year reign over the 1.7-million-member union with some $1 billion in assets.

"A power grab," one executive board member called it and predicted Hoffa would never turn the presidency over to Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons. Hoffa's choice to replace him if he dies, resigns or is removed from office.

Hoffa has said in the past he would resign if he goes to prison to serve any of his 13 years in pending prison sentences, but the proposed constitutional changes would not force him to step down.

Hydrogen Fuel Taming, Break For Moon Try

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla., (AP) —After years of engineering headaches, it appears that U.S. scientists have harnessed liquid hydrogen as a high-energy rocket fuel for man-to-the-moon and other space missions.

The breakthrough came Tuesday when America's heaviest satellite, a 29-ton rocket stage, hurtled around the globe for three orbits while ground stations monitored the behavior of 10 tons of hydrogen packed in the fuel tank.

Throughout this 4½-hour period, the hydrogen performed better than expected, thanks to a unique system of small rockets and gas vents that created a tiny thrust to keep the fuel positioned in the bottom of the 64,000-gallon tank, at the end of the engine.

Under weightless conditions on previous tests with smaller rockets, the fuel had a tendency to curl into a ball, climb the walls of the tank or vaporize.

But each time, when the gentle thrust was applied, the hydrogen settled to the bottom, with hardly a ripple on the surface, demonstrating that the engine could have been restarted—a must for manned lunar-landing flights.

British Accident Rates Cut When Speed Is Limited

LONDON (AP) — The government Road Research Laboratory says serious accidents decreased 13 per cent in the first four months after speed limits were put on 100,000 miles of major British roads.

The report indicated that the Ministry of Transport would maintain the speed limits despite vigorous protests from some drivers' organizations and sports car enthusiasts. The limits are 50 miles an hour on heavily traveled trunk roads and 70 miles on superhighways.

Wilkins Claims 'Black Power' Leads To Hate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, looks upon the concept of "black power" as "the father of hatred and the mother of violence."

Wilkins condemned the concept in these words Tuesday night as he opened the NAACP's annual convention with a keynote address to 2,000 delegates.

"We of the NAACP will have none of this," he said. "It shall not now poison our forward march."

"'Black power' in the quick, uncritical and highly emotional adoption it has received from some segments of a beleaguered people can mean only black death," Wilkins emphasized. "Even if it should be enthroned briefly, the human spirit would die a little."

The director also criticized the adoption of a resolution by the Congress of Racial Equality calling for retaliation by Negroes against acts of violence.

While stressing that the NAACP has never "signed a pact to turn the cheek forever," Wilkins said: "It seems reasonable to assume that proclaimed protective violence is as likely to encourage counterviolence as it is to discourage violent persecution."

Registrations Show Extent Of Cycle Increase

LANSING (AP)—Michigan is joining what Secretary of State James Hare calls "the greatest mass migration to two-wheeled motor vehicles in our nation's history."

Last year, Hare said, his office registered some 65,600 motorcycles and motor scooters of all types, an increase of 25,000 over the previous year.

As of the end of April this year, he reported, 35,000 two-wheelers were registered compared to 25,000 at the same date a year ago.

Hare cited several reasons for the new popularity. He listed economy of operation, an "invasion" by foreign bikes that are inexpensive to purchase and maintain and the mobility of the bikes in congested traffic.

Youngsters also are caught up in the motorcycle and motor bike craze, he said.

RONALD REAGAN, Republican candidate for governor of California, tells newsmen at Los Angeles that he will serve all four years of his term if elected. He said that was a "flat statement" meaning he would not be a potential GOP presidential candidate in 1968. Some leading Republicans have mentioned him as a possible candidate in 1968 if he wins the California governorship. (AP Wirephoto)

Governors Get Mixed Feelings On War Policy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told the nation's governors today that the United States has the initiative in Viet Nam and must stay and fight there until it has stopped the aggression from the North.

The vice president, in a prepared address to the 58th annual Governors Conference, said that because of a series of "smashing defeats" to the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong, the initiative in the conflict clearly "has shifted to the allied forces."

The governors are considering a resolution in support of President Johnson's Southeast Asia policy.

Only Two Options

As a representative of the President, who canceled a visit to the conference session, Humphrey launched a defense in depth of the President's course in a war most of the governors said the people want ended quickly.

Humphrey said the nation is faced with only two options — to stay and fight in Viet Nam or to get out. He said withdrawal would only encourage further Communist aggression in Asia and would jeopardize the integrity of independent nations in that part of the world.

"There are those who suggest that we should stay, but be quiet about it — that we should fight, but not vigorously," he said. "I am not sure whether they fully support a half war or give halfway support to a full war.

Must Halt Aggression

"I say that we must stay and fight and work in South Viet Nam until we have achieved our objective — the halt of agggression from the North, the independence of South Viet Nam and peace in Southeast Asia."

Humphrey said that "despite the efforts of a small minority to cloud the issue, there is nothing 'liberal' or 'conservative' about turning 15 million people over to communism."

"At stake is not merely the independence of the South Vietnamese, but the course of future events in Asia," he said.

Humphrey said the recent bombing of oil storage depots around Hanoi and Haiphong — which has disturbed some governors who generally have supported the administration's policies — was "a military action against clear military objectives."

Mixed Reaction

"The decision was carefully weighed," he said. "It was designed for two purposes — to slow down the rate of infiltration which has been taking a toll of allied lives and to help convince the North Vietnamese leadership that their aggression in the South will be too costly to sustain."

Before Humphrey spoke, President Johnson's indication he plans to stump the country in behalf of his Viet Nam policies drew mixed political reaction from the Democratic and Republican governors being asked to endorse them.

After Year, Is This A Break?

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Capt. Elza Hatfield, a veteran Kansas City policeman whose major-case unit gets the worst crimes, reached into his pocket and pulled out a picture of a blue-eyed girl, her mischievous, freckled face ringed with curls.

"I carry that with me wherever I go," Hatfield said. "Every man in the office does."

The portrait was that of Denise Sue Clinton, 9 years old and on summer vacation when she was kidnaped July 8 a year ago by a robber who apparently took her only as an afterthought.

There has been no trace of her — no torn or discarded clothing, no ransom demand, no indication whether she is dead or alive.

All that police and the FBI had to go on was a picture of a 33-year-old former mental patient that the girl's grandparents said resembled the robber.

The man, identified as Robert Lee Hays, was arrested Monday night — four days short of the anniversary of the kidnaping — in Oklahoma City on a warrant charging unlawful flight. He had been sought on robbery warrants issued in Topeka, Kan., in September 1963 and in Kansas City.

He was arraigned in Oklahoma City Tuesday before U.S. Commissioner Jim Gullett and held under $2,000 bond.

Both the FBI and Kansas City police said they wanted to question Hays about the kidnaping — to eliminate him as a suspect. He probably will be returned to Topeka on the warrant charging him with robbing the Peacock laundry there. The grandparents will be taken to view him.

Hays denied in Oklahoma City Tuesday night that he kidnaped Denise. He also denied robbing the Peacock laundry.

Denise's mother, Mrs. Russell Clinton, says: "I believe I'm the only one who believe she's still alive. Hundreds of people wish she were, of course, but I believe it.

"I try to keep a level head about it, I also try to remember to realize that it might not be true. But as long as nobody finds her—."

Former GOP Congressmen Try Comeback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nineteen former Republican congressmen, many of them pro-Goldwater conservatives, are making comeback attempts this year against Democrats who were elected to the House two years ago in the Johnson landslide.

Thirteen are running against the same Democrats who defeated them in 1964 and 16 of the 19 are competing in districts considered marginal because the incumbent Democrat won with less than 55 per cent of the vote.

Some Democratic strategists admit it will be an uphill fight to retain these seats, as well as the 47 other marginal districts the party now holds. Most of these were won in 1964 in areas which had been Republican for years.

In contrast, only one former Democratic House member — Charles O. Porter of Oregon — is trying to regain his seat. He is seeking the post being vacated by Rep. Robert B. Duncan, who is running for the Senate.

While the return to Washington of the 19 former GOP congressmen would not endanger the Democrats' 294-139 numerical majority, it could cut heavily into the party's working majority.

Because most Republicans frequently vote with Southern Democrats against administration domestic programs, replacement of 20 to 30 pro-administration Democrats by conservative Republicans could erase majorities for such controversial programs as the National Teachers Corps and rent supplements.

Study On Porch Is Real Bother

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — College student Peter Dys of Grand Rapids didn't think going out on the front porch of his boarding house to study would cause him so much trouble.

It was a hot night, so he went out on the porch in his pajamas. A breeze blew the door shut behind him. His door key was upstairs in his room.

Unfortunately, his landlady was on vacation and he was nome alone. He remembered that the landlady had given a key to a neighbor across the street. Dys walked across the street in his pajamas.

Then he found that since the boarding house was for sale, the neighbor had given the key to the realtor. He used the neighbor's phone to call the realtor, who drove over and let him in.

Educational TV Value Is Shown

A demonstration of the application of closed circuit educational TV, similar to the system to be installed at Bay de Noc Community College, was presented to the Rotary Club at the House of Ludington Tuesday noon.

Richard Rinehart, president of the Bay de Noc Community College, said that closed circuit television and video tape recording have many applications in the college program.

Segments of lectures can be put on video tape and placed in the college library, for example, to be used for replay whenever the material was required.

Video recorded material from the laboratory could be used effectively in physics classes; closed circuit TV could bring a lecturer and his message to groups throughout the school; and there are available video tape programs from many [illegible] institutions.

The demonstration of the equipment was by William G. Jackson, Marquette, general manager of the Northwest Radio Supply, Inc.; and Kenneth C. Manniko, the firm's industrial sales representative.

The Office of Education has announced a grant of $13,025 to Bay de Noc Community College for the closed circuit TV installation.

Jackson and Manniko reported that closed circuit TV is being used increasingly for traffic control, in banks and shops for the detection of criminals, and by industry in making examinations of operations and product.

The White Pine Copper Co., for example, uses television to keep a hoist operator informed on the working of a pulley located more than one thousand feet deep in the shaft of the copper mine. If it were not for TV, a man would have to be stationed at the pulley constantly.

Isadore Stein, president of the Rotary Club, conducted the meeting and introduced the program.

No pre-registration is necessary for the conference, which is open to amateur and professional writers, teachers, and students of literature, regardless of residence.

Complete cost, including workshops and lodging on campus for Friday and Saturday nights, with meals from Friday breakfast through dinner Sunday noon, is $20 per person. The university also offers individual daily registrations and reservations for workshops and meals for anyone registering before the morning sessions begin.

Headliners for the conference are William D. Snodgrass, whose book "Heart's Needle" won the 1960 Pulitzer prize for poetry, and Dr. Karl Zeisler, professor of journalism at the University of Michigan.

Zeisler, who is a long-time newspaperman and widely published free lance magazine writer, is a authority on magazine article writing and sale of articles.

Friday at 8:15 p. m., NMU presents Snodgrass as lecturer as part of the university's six-week summer session. The public is invited and there will be no admission charge. Conferees who plan to stay overnight in NMU facilities are asked to register between 3 and 5 p. m at University Center, where all meetings will be held.

Registration for the conference will open at 9 a. m. Saturday with Dr. Zeisler keynote speaker at 10 a. m. on "Michigan-a Writer's Haven." Robert Wester, NMU Department of English, will speak on "Writings from Marquette's Prisoners."

After luncheon, W. D. Snodgrass, who is professor of English at Wayne State University, Detroit, will speak on the "The Path to the Pulitzer Prize."

The afternoon sessions will feature workshops in poetry, freelancing for business, technical and special press, and children's stories, to be continued Sunday.

Following a 3:15 coffee break, Roy Trissider, of the Globe Printing Co., Ishpeming, will speak on "Printing Your Work Offset."

For the first time at an Upper Peninsula Writers' Conference, writers are given an opportunity to read their poetry or short stories before the conference. Scheduled for 7:15 p. m Saturday, the session will be followed by informal "curbstone" and critique sessions. Writers will have the choice of reading behind a "scrim" to reduce personal identification.

Dr. Earl McIntyre, of NMU's English department will be moderator and Dr. Zeisler will be consultant for the short story division. William J. Finlan will be moderator and Snodgrass consultant for the poetry division.

To make reservations in advance phone the conference director, William E Wright, Public Services Division, NMU, Marquette.

Pesticides Are Deadly Danger

This is the time of the year when farmers use pesticides of all kinds. "We cannot overemphasize the need to be cautious," says J. L. Heirman, Delta County Extension director.

"Sometimes we buy a pesticide in large quantity because it is more economical. This is good, but be sure you keep it identified at all times. Too often, the container is damaged so you put it into a different bag, pail or box and forget to label it properly and then forget what it actually is.

"When this happens do not try to second guess yourself. It may be very costly. Destroy it. Just a couple of weeks ago a farmer downstate took a $15,000 loss because he mixed Aldrin with some feed, causing 72 head of cattle to die within a few hours.

"Keep all pesticides, fungicides and weed killers in a building away from the feed for cattle. It is sad enough to take a $15,000 loss, but this is nothing compared to the loss of a child that might get into the deadly chemicals."

Centers For Retarded

Opening of the Upper Peninsula's first day care center for retarded children last month in Marquette and the opening this week of similar clinics in Republic and Manistique mark an advance in meeting the needs of the severely mentally retarded.

Until now, the only alternatives for parents of the severely mentally retarded were attempting to rear the children in their private homes or placing them in institutions. Aside from other objections, institutionalization is a costly matter. (Estimated cost per child per year in institutions is $2,600; for day care centers it is about $1,000 less.)

Through establishment of the centers in the three Upper Peninsula communities and plans for eventually expanding the program to other areas, it is believed that many children, who previously would have been institutionalized, may now remain at home and live in a family setting.

The Michigan Department of Mental Health, which was enabled to begin its program of day care centers through appropriations passed in the 1963 Legislature and continued since then, believe that the program should have a dual focus, that it should be both child-centered and parent-centered.

It is believed that the child can best be helped by a developmental training program designed to meet his special needs and handicaps. Through such a program, which includes training in self-care, language development, sensory training and physical training, it is hoped that the severely mentally retarded child will be able to reach his maximum of physical, emotional and social adjustment.

For the parent, there are two goals. First, it is known that when the parent of a severely retarded child can be relieved of even a part of the continuous 24-hour burden of care for the child, he is able to look upon the child more objectively. This objectivity will in turn aid the family as a whole to accept the child and his limitations. It also is hoped that the relief from the burden of care will aid in maintaining a more normal family situation for both the parents and the children.

The second goal for parents is in counseling. In this it is hoped to aid the parents in understanding the child, his needs, his limitations and his worth as an individual. Counseling also will serve the parents in the area of life planning for the severely mentally retarded. This planning will aid the parents not only in the present situation, but should help them in setting up goals and methods of meeting the child's future needs.

* * *

The Upper Peninsula centers are new and enrollment is small. But as the work becomes better known, it is expected that enrollments will grow. Anyone who is interested in learning more about the centers may obtain information by calling or writing the Upper Peninsula Child Guidance Center, Inc., Marquette, which is in charge of administration of this worthwhile and humane program.

CAR PARKING

When I pick up my paper at night, the first page I turn to is the Letters to the Press column. I'm still waiting for an answer in Letters to the Press on the parking problem from one of the Councilmen.

I live in back of Montgomery Wards. Next to me is the city parking lot.

The other night I saw a picture of my house that the city wants for a parking lot. The picture was taken from an airplane—but it didn't show the pipes where the parking meters used to set on. They were removed some time ago. The pipes are all standing and one is bent right over in my yard. Why weren't the pipes removed at the same time as the parking meters? I know the pipes are on city property, but the cement that holds them is in the ground in my yard.

Would the city be responsible if my little girl got hurt playing in her own yard? When I cut the lawn I have to trim all around those pipes and the cement that holds them.

What about the people that live outside the city limits? By the time they get into town the lots are all filled up with the cars of the employes in the stores.

Walking does a person good. Perhaps we have too many parking lots.

If the lots were going to be used for industrial purposes I would say fine and dandy. It would create more jobs for men who are looking for a place to work—not just a place to park.

Speeding drivers are the primary target of a new attack on highway accidents. It likely is one of the most expensive traffic safety moves which could be undertaken, but it could be effective.

Involved in the new program to enforce driving laws are three air planes based at Lansing, Traverse City and Marquette.

Carry from two to four men, planes are equipped with speed-time charts which translate stop-watch fractions of a second into vehicle miles per hour.

* * *

Working in conjunction with the highway department, 20 sections of roadway which were frequent accident scenes were selected for special markings. These consisted of painted lines measuring a 660-foot strip of road.

By timing a car traveling the 660 feet, a stop-watch held by a policeman in the plane marks the exact speed of the vehicle on the ground.

If the speed is over that allowed by law, word is relayed to a patrol car not far from the marked strip. The motorist is stopped and ticketed or warned.

Cost of operating planes is great. State Police decided to give the air spotting system, used in several other states, a try in an attempt to discourage speeding and other violations, such as improper passing and following too closely.

Air spotting could prove to be very effective. As one of the first men stopped noted, "I guess you guys really did me a favor." He was traveling over 90 on a freeway, where the legal maximum is 70 miles per hour.

Michigan Is Fine Vacation State

Nomadism Has Rich Rewards Here

By LEE SMITS

Until recently, less than half a million years ago, we were nomads, continually on the move; hunters, fishers, gatherers of edible plants. Instinct prompts our enormous hurrying from where we are to somewhere else. Instinct causes vacations.

It is safe to say that no part of America has more vacation possibilities than Michigan. Trout, golf, muskellunge, saddle horses, tennis, swimming, canoeing, camping and dance orchestras are among the attractions available in our resort areas.

Vacations are taken the year around, with the big rush after school lets out. The postman brings folders, brochures, news releases from resorts up and down the continent; from Great Bear Lake under the arctic circle to remote islands of the Caribbean. It is fun to read this kind of mail — and dream.

A family craving wilderness should head for Houghton and a boat trip to Isle Royale National Park, where there are no roads, no cars, no cocktail lounges, no golf course, but where you can camp out or enjoy the best of modern accommodations.

You probably will see moose. If you are interested, you can find wolf tracks. There is excellent fishing — and if you locate the right spots — the possibility of boating giant pike.

An authority on far-out vacations is George F. Pierrot, whose hobby is arranging recreation for other people. He compiles a Fishing Letter.

Thirteen thousand copies of the first 1966 edition have gone out and a second edition is on the press. George believes that in another 10 years solitude will be hard to find in Michigan and his directory lists the allurements of Ontario's Algoma wilderness; where to go, how to get there and what to do when you get there.

The George Pierrot Fishing Letter can be obtained by sending a big self-addressed envelope with a ten cent stamp to Mr. Pierrot at WWJ-TV, Detroit.

Wilderness is not everyone's requirement. Many vacations are taken in serial form including long weekends. There is no town in Michigan that is not within an hour's driving of vacation facilities, ranging from the marshes and channels of the St. Clair Flats to the lofty woodlands of the Porcupine Mountains bordering Lake Superior.

It pays to make plans and preparations, especially during rush periods and planning is at least 25 per cent of the fun. You can apply to the Michigan Tourist Council with offices in the Mason Building, Lansing, or to Regional Tourist Association offices in Detroit, Bay City, Grand Rapids and Marquette. The best information of all comes, of course, from someone like George Pierrot who has been there.

An impressive file of vacation hints has accumulated; rules for boat safety, camp cookery recipes, a list of plants that will poison children who nibble on them.

The chief vacation requisite is not mentioned. It is something every vacationer has to create for himself: awareness, and the gift of joy-in-being which must be proof against mosquitoes, rainy days, blow-out, non-biting fish, sunburn and poison ivy.

Instant Congressmen

By WASHINGTON STAFF

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Speaking to the Republican Women of Capitol Hill, former Vice President Richard Nixon praised congressional secretaries for their almost infallible instinct of letting the right people get through to their bosses on the phone.

Among the "telephone techniques" described by Nixon:

If you're sure the caller is a nut, you say: "The congressman is out of the city. Is there something I can do?"

When you're not quite sure it's a nut, you say: "The congressman is in a very important committee meeting. If you'll tell me what it's about, perhaps I could get a message to him."

And if the caller sounds important, you take his name and say: "The congressman is on another line. Can you hold on?"

The only problem, Nixon added, is when President Johnson calls personally. This conversation might ensue:

"Can Ah speak to the congressman?"

"The congressman is out of the city. Is there something I can do?"

"Well, this is President Johnson . . ."

"Just a minute. I think I see him coming down the hall!"

At a recent Senate subcommittee hearing on the Federal Communications Commission's budget, Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., said that he had received several complaints about the loudness of radio commercials.

Rosel Hyde, one of the seven FCC commissioners, noted: "Complaints of this nature are rather difficult to substantiate. I've always found that any commercial—regardless of how loud it is—tends to awaken the average listener."

"Furthermore," chimed in commissioner Kenneth Cox, "it's hard to have a commercial which to too loud on most of these rock 'n' roll stations."

Joseph Parrish, an editorial cartoonist for a large midwestern newspaper, bumped into an old chum from his original home town, Donelson, Tenn., the other day.

"Hey, Joe! Congratulations!" boomed the friend. "You really must have hit it big. I was back in Donelson a couple of months ago, and they've put up a plaque on your birthplace."

"Yeah?" responded the incredulous Parrish. "What does it say?"

"Nashville—20 miles."

Andrew Hatcher, former presidential press aide now in private business, remarked at the recent White House Conference on Civil Rights that he had bumped into his former boss, Pierre Salinger.

"Saw Pierre in New York the other day," said Hatcher. "The taxi strike was on. But Pierre, of course, had a limousine.

"It was just like old times at the White House."

The Doctor Says:

Dumping Syndrome Bothers Many

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

(First of two related columns)

One of the most unpleasant results of the removal of a large part of the stomach is a condition called the dumping syndrome. Some persons with a surgically diminished stomach within an hour or less after eating feel suddenly weak, have a drenching sweat and are dizzy and nauseated. This is because the food in their stomachs is precipitously dumped into the upper small intestine (jejunum) too rapidly.

The victims are usually women with a highly sensitive nature. It has been shown that the spells are most likely to occur when a large amount of cold liquid is imbibed hurriedly. If the meal contains a large portion of sugar, the spell will come on even more quickly. The cause, therefore, appears to be a high degree of jejunal irritability with cold, distention and sugar acting as the principal irritants.

The prevalence of this condition has discouraged many surgeons from removing part of the stomach if the patient is high-strung and if the reason is a chronic stomach ulcer. If, on the other hand, the patient has a gastric cancer, there is no choice but to remove it.

Those who suffer from the dumping syndrome can learn to control the attacks by using a judicious diet low in carbohydrates, avoiding cold fluids and taking methysergide or cyproheptadine. These measures rarely fail but when they do, certain operative procedures may be required to correct the trouble.

Q — My husband has had a duodenal ulcer for 20 years. Recently he lost a lot of tarry blood in his stool and became very weak. The doctor said his ulcer was bleeding. How could he tell without taking X-rays?

A — Although there are other causes of blood in the stool, a massive hemorrhage is almost always from a bleeding ulcer, especially if the blood has been exposed to the digestive juices and is tarry rather than bright red. Your husband's long history of ulcer was another clue.

X-rays would have shown nothing unless he drank a mixture of barium sulfate and water. In an acute emergency, this would have added to his ordeal and would have furnished little information. When he has had time to regain his strength, his doctor may want to X-ray his stomach.

Ann Landers

Jackie Either Slow; Or Little Too Fast

Dear Ann Landers: Our son Jackie is not quite 13 years old. He likes a girl who lives down the block. They have been going to school together since the kindergarten.

A few weeks ago Jackie asked me if he could invite Lizette to sleep at our house. I was surprised at this request and told him so. He replied, "Why is it such a funny thing to ask? I have invited Johnny and Bill and Chuck over to sleep, and now I'd like to invite Lizette. We could watch TV and play records and talk a lot."

I mentioned our exchange to Jackie's father and he didn't know what to make of it. He suggested that I speak to a friend who is a child psychologist.

I asked this friend about Jackie's request and he explained that some children don't recognize the difference between boys and girls until puberty and that Jackie may be a little slow. He said we should not be concerned.

What are your views? — BAFFLED PARENTS

Dear Parents: Jackie is either a little slow—or a little fast. Regardless of which it is, a 13-year-old boy should not be entertaining a girl at a slumber party. Tell him to call Johnny or Billy or Chuck.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: My 18-year-old daughter is pregnant. She insists that the father of her unborn child is in the Army and unable to marry her. A few weeks ago she said the father was in the Navy and already married. Before that she said the father was a prominent man in the community whose name she could not reveal. Frankly, I don't think she knows who the father is.

I am a widow and I have four younger children. I want this girl to go to a home for unwed mothers and give up her child for adoption. My daughters says she cannot bear to give up her own flesh and blood and that the baby will give her a reason to go on living.

Ann, I am struggling to raise my own family without a husband and there are days when I don't think I will make it. I work at a dry cleaning plant and take in fancy ironing on weekends. My daughter has no sense of responsibility and if I agree to her plan, I will have to raise her child. Furthermore, I feel that it would be better for the baby to be adopted by a married couple who can give him a stable home.

I want your advice.—UP-HILL FIGHT

Dear Uphill: You are right and I urge you not to let this girl beat you into a corner.

Your daughter's "love" for her unborn child is a sick kind of thing—a mixture of self-pity and self-destruction.

The unwed mother who has a genuine love for her child wants him to have a good life in a socially acceptable environment—and this means BOTH "no". . .and make it stick.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: A lovely tree on our property overhangs our neighbor's property. They built a brick platform for their picnic table and it cost quite a lot of money.

The birds that light in our tree make quite a mess on their picnic table and the neighbors want us to cut down the tree. We love that tree and we do not want to cut it down. What should be done?—PEORIA

Dear Peoria: Obviously that picnic table is strictly for the birds. Your neighbors should have thought of the hazards before they invested in the blamed thing. They should move their table.

Escanaba Area's Story Heard Round The World

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Ken and Jeanadele Magner, who visited Escanaba Tuesday afternoon, are an example of an idea in successful orbit.

The idea is that people are most interested in people and that the whole world would like to know more about the "real" Americans — real Americans like those who live in the Escanaba area.

Mr. and Mrs. Magner in pursuit of their idea several years ago took their nest egg of $6,000 and launched a radio program they call "Off the Wing Tip," which is also used by the Voice of America.

"We take an informal, human interest approach, and each day we do a show from a different location," vivacious said Mrs. Magner.

Half-Million Miles

"If that's possible, we'd like to let the whole world know the secret of America's greatness," explained Ken Magner.

As the title of their program suggests, they fly from one selected community to another to record their program. They arrived in Escanaba Tuesday afternoon from Menominee and took off within a few hours for Rochester, Minn.

They fly a single engine four-place Mooney. Both are pilots. She has had her pilot's license for five years and he has been a commercial pilot for 27 years.

We've flown about 500,000 miles in the past four years — plus traveling about 100,000 miles on the ground because we don't believe in taking chances," said Magner.

On their present trip they are visiting communities in 23 states in 40 days.

They were met at the airport by Escanaba Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe and Chamber of Commerce Manager Walter Lewke. Their visit to Escanaba was invited by the Chamber.

Story Of Progress

The Magners interviewed Mayor Vanlerberghe as the spokesman for the people of the community. They were delighted, they said, at the depth of his information to is responsiveness to their questions.

"He's big and he's handsome — but he tells me he has a son who is even taller than he is," Mrs. Magner told the audience who will hear the taped broadcast from Escanaba.

Things are stirring in the Upper Peninsula, Mayor Vanlerberghe told the Magners. What was once a depressed region is recovering rapidly and its vast resources of forest, ore, and natural attractions are gaining national attention.

What is the greatest challenge facing the Upper Peninsula?

"To handle the big influx of people who will come here as our economic condition improves," Mayor Van replied promptly.

Heard Around World

He noted the progress that has been made: Industry and the people now have a natural gas fuel supply; three oil pipelines cross the Peninsula; industry has invested many millions of dollars in expansion; educational institutions are growing.

Completing their interview of Mayor Van the Magners stayed to talk briefly about themselves.

They like their work — but they miss their family that includes daughters Diana, 18, National Honor Society member who will attend William and Mary this year; and Donna, 20, a student at Northeastern University, Boston, who is engaged. Then their is Skippy, the four-pound toy Pom, who likes to fly but was left at home to "keep the girls from becoming too lonesome."

In about four weeks (and for about 10 minutes) there will be heard on more than 322 radio stations the story of Escanaba as part of the profile of America. The program is heard also on all U. S. armed forces stations plus the Voice of America.

Japan Tells U.S. It Will Continue Peking Contact

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — Japan told the United States today it will continue its contacts with Communist China to help Peking break out of self-imposed isolation.

Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina expressed the Japanese government's view as he and U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk opened the fifth annual meeting of Japanese and American Cabinet officers.

The three-day conference convened with leftist demonstrators marching in the streets of ancient Kyoto to protest U.S. policy in Viet Nam. A heavy police guard kept the 2,000 marchers a third of a mile from the conference hall.

There Is Tension

Shiina told Rusk and four other U.S. Cabinet members attending the closed meeting that the Chinese Communists seemed pragmatic in their actions toward Japan despite verbal attacks on its government. Rusk indicated a much harsher assessment of Peking.

The Japanese foreign minister said it was unclear whether the purge in Communist China meant a power struggle or an ideological change. "At any rate there is tension" on the mainland, he said.

Rusk said in the past 18 months Communist China had suffered "severe reverses" and "growing isolation" from the rest of the world but was "continuing its hostility and intransigence toward the United States and the rest of the world."

Seek War End

Rusk reassured the Japanese that "the United States is seeking every possible avenue to find peace" in Viet Nam. Shiina expressed the hope for a prompt peaceful settlement. Neither mentioned the recent U.S. bombings in the Hanoi-Haiphong area, officials told the newsmen.

Opening the conference earlier today, Shiina and Rusk both referred to differences between their governments on some questions but minimized the effect.

"This diversity," said Rusk, "adds to the strength and durability of our partnership—provided that we never forget that we have some vital common interests in freedom, security and peace."

Economic Questions

"The basic policies and objectives in the international community of the two countries are the same," said Shiina, adding that mutual respect for the positions of each would "develop a partnership for international cooperation."

Much of the conference is to be devoted to economic questions, and the U.S. delegation included Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

The Japanese leftists mustered 5,000 demonstrators outside the Osaka Airport for Rusk's arrival from Formosa Monday, but 4,500 police kept them well away from the airport and the secretary's motorcade escaped by a back gate.

Reading Aids Arrive Daily

Special instructional materials and equipment for the Escanaba Area summer developmental reading program continue to arrive daily as the program moves through its third week, according to Louis Diedrich, director.

Enrollment in the federally-supported program is 671 with about 612 students attending classes at Lemmer, Webster and Holy Name reading centers.

"Parental cooperation has been outstanding and largely responsible for the fine attendance despite a large variety of summer activities being offered to boys and girls in this area," Diedrich said.

The $86,506 program uses levels of instruction beginning at the post-kindergarten level through the 12th grade. Students are referred to the instructional level that best challenges their capacity to learn, regardless of what grade they are in at school, Diedrich said.

A total of 35 teachers are employed in the program, using a new basic reading text and four supplementary books. Also in use are overhead projectors, film strips, movies, opaque projectors, tape recorders and other audio-visual aids.

Diedrich said plans are being made for an "Open House" program in about the fifth week of instruction to all parents and residents to get a first-hand view at the program. Details will be announced later, he said.

Father Suhr Will Instruct Adult Classes

The program will offer a colored film strip and records on Monday evenings on "Moses and the Covenant"; on Wednesdays a colored film strip and records on "Paul and the Early Church," and on Fridays personal recordings of Bishop Fulton J. Sheen used for his convert classes. There will be a question period after each lesson.

Over 600 In Summer School

Catch-up Reading Taught

The largest summer program in the history of Michigan's public schools is underway in the state with more than 300,000 boys and girls attending summer school sessions, about twice as many as in any other year.

Most of the increase is a result of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act passed by Congress last year, says State Superintendent of Instruction Ira Polley. An estimated 100,000 public and parochial school children are participating in the special projects financed with federal education funds.

Stress is on three areas: remedial reading, cultural enrichment or health care, or a combination of all three. In the Escanaba Area Public Schools the accent is on remedial reading, with health services where needed. Last year in the first operation of the program only 115 students were enrolled but this year there are 671 in half day sessions at three schools, the Webster, Lemmer and Holy Name High School.

Nearly all of the projects in the state include breakfast or lunch or both, but because Escanaba's program is only half day it provides no meals.

The state program ranges from classes for pre-schoolers to courses for adults. Escanaba Area Schools' program has a few high school students enrolled, but it aims at remedial reading only through the 7th grade level. The purpose is to bring up the skill of laggard readers so they can keep up with the classes and ease the whole process of learning as it is affected by reading. The aim is to help the child with all studies, not just reading.

To make instruction more individual and thus more helpful the Escanaba summer schools have a teacher to student ratio as low as 1 to 15 and a high of 1 to 25, which is lower than any classroom ratio in the regular school terms.

Library facilities are being used in many state programs and locally the Escanaba Public Library has provided branches at the Webster School and Holy Name High School for the summer courses, and the school district has bought many books for the special classes.

The cultural enrichment being stressed in some programs is getting only incidental treatment here, but the school nurse is cooperating in solution of sight and hearing and other health problems and the programs has funds for health services needed by students. When the families cannot pay for remedial health services there are federal aids.

There is no summer program for parents locally.

Gladstone Man Helps Indians

DETROIT — Frater Kirk Koehler, O. F. M. Capuchin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Koehler, 814 Superior Avenue, is helping run a summer camp for Indian children of St. Labre Mission at Ashland, Mont.

Frater Kirk will be a fourth year theology student at the Capuchin Seminary of St. Anthony, Marathon, Wisconsin this fall.

He has been assigned to the Indian Mission along with seven other Capuchin seminarians for the summer. This is part of the seminary's program to give students actual experience working with people in the various Capuchin Apostolates prior to their ordination.

"We have set up a series of eight, week-long summer camp sessions, four for boys and four for girls," Frater Kirk said. "Many of these children are from broken homes or from homes that are poorly managed. They are really starved for love and look for someone to be interested in them. This is an important phase of our work out here—to show them Christ's love through our interest and love."

"Children are bused into camp each Monday morning from the towns of Lame Deer, Busby and Birney. They board here for the week and then return to their homes on Friday."

Camp activities include religion classes, sports, arts and crafts classes and a special class in the history of the Cheyenne Indian People.

Frater Kirk explained that the spirit of the Cheyenne children was a proud spirit. "It is also a spirit, however, that is both volatile and creative of good," he said.

"The nature and purpose of this sumer camp is to help prepare these Cheyenne children to live in the world as mature and responsible citizens and Christians. It is a small effort but it is indeed an effort at Christian penetration into the mass of society," he said.

Man Is Sum Of All His Memory

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It is memory, not clothes, that makes the man.

Man is the sum of all he remembers, a reservoir of past times, vanished worlds. At his will he can make them live again.

What a magician memory truly is, almost Godlike in this power to resurrect and recreate. For nothing is truly dead until it is altogether forgotten.

Except for his memory man would be hardly more than ambulant vegetation — a weak-skinned oak, a long-lasting weed.

And you've probably been up and down life's garden path a few times yourself if you can look back and remember when —

The best way to cool off in summer was to go down and sit in a rocking chair in the cellar. Or did you call it the basement?

Neither sex wore swimming suits that revealed the navel.

Up-to-date mothers quit using sulphur and molasses and started dosing their kids with codliver oil.

Many people wouldn't go to a doctor until their druggist failed to cure them with patent medicines.

You could tell how many children in the family had taken their Saturday night baths before you by counting the rings they left in the bathtub.

People in small towns were awakened by the sound of roosters crowing, and those in big cities by the clop-clop-clop of horse-drawn delivery wagons.

A boy was as excited as Marco Polo when he got to take his first ride on an interurban trolley.

You could tell the difference between a girl and a boy by the lengths of their hair — only boys of prekindergarten age wore long curls.

A spendthrift was a fellow who spent more than $1 for a shirt or $5 for a new pair of shoes.

Except at the beach, only movie stars and gangsters wore sunglasses in public.

It was an expensive honeymoon if the hotel rate was more than $3 a night.

Bandleader Wayne King was known as "the Waltz King," and Lawrence Welk didn't have a bubble to his fame.

Most railroads prided themselves on their passenger service.

You could get a college education for what it costs to buy a Japanese motorcycle today.

Those were the days! Remember?

Need License, Peddlers Told

Persons soliciting business or peddling their services or goods in Escanaba must be registered and have a license, City Clerk Don Guindon said today.

The city clerk warned that failure to comply with the city ordinance can bring arrest and prosecution.

He said that complaints have been received regarding the activities of some solicitors who attempt to make sales by telling residents they 'are making a survey." After gaining entry into the home, they inveigle the housewife into an agreement to make a purchase.

Guindon advised residents, for their own protection, to request that solicitors show their credentials.

Should the peddler refuse or claim that it is not necessary, complaint should be made to the city clerk, the city police, or to the Chamber of Commerce.

Sheriff Blames Night Staff For Escape Of Ross

SUPERIOR, Wis. — Douglas County Sheriff Louis Bannick indicated Tuesday that disciplinary action is likely against jailers who were on duty at the time alleged bank robber Robert D. Ross escaped with cellmate Jerome O'Neil.

He did not specify what action he is considering.

Ross, 35, of Flint, and O'Neil, 24, of the Superior area, escaped Monday after sawing through six bars, breaking a lock on the heavy wire mesh screen, and sawing through the screen.

Ross and Roy E. Waldo, 34, and his brother, Clarence, 30, also of the Flint area, have been charged in federal warrants with robbing the Bark River State Bank of $32,000 Monday, June 27.

The Waldo brothers are also at large.

Bannick said Rose apparently had a hacksaw blade or blades sewn into the lining of his shoes. He said that Ross had been searched down to his stockings the day he was booked (Tuesday, June 28) and nothing was found.

Bannick said Ross apparently began saw work on the bars the day he was jailed, cutting 12-inch sections from the bars during the night and then replacing them in the day, using soap to hold them so they wouldn't be noticed.

He blamed the night staff for negligence in allowing the escape to happen.

Bannick said he ordered extra caution from midnight to 8 a. m. because Ross was a federal prisoner. He said he ordered checks no less than once an hour, but this apparently was not done.

The escape was not discovered until about 1 p. m. Monday, perhaps as long as 12 hours after the men fled.

Police believe the men took a 1966 white Oldsmobile Toronado from a nearby dealer's garage and headed toward Canada. No trace has been found of the men.

The Appalachian Trail was completed in 1937 and extends 2,050 miles along the crest of the Appalachian Range from Mt. Katahdin in Maine to Mt. Oglethorpe in Georgia.

Price Of Milk Going Up

Federal Order Aids Farms

Increase in the retail price of milk is in prospect as result of federal action increasing the cost of milk to handlers, but no local dairies had posted any price increases today.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service, Dairy Division announced minimum class prices and butterfat differentials for milk in the Upper Peninsula Marketing Area Tuesday, effective July 5. The minimums will prevail until March of 1967.

The minimum is new. Previously the Minnesota-Wisconsin basic formula of dairy prices was used and this will still apply if it is more than the minimum, but the $4 a hundredweight is a floor under milk prices now in the U. P.

The Class 1 (drinking milk) price in Zonela (Menominee) is $4.61 with addition of the Class 1 differential and supply demand adjustment figures, which change monthly, $4.71 in Zone 1 (Escanaba) and $4.91 in Zone 2 (Marquette). These prices compared with $4.38 in Zone 1 in June and $4.58 in Zone 2 in June.

Rises Expected

Since wholesale prices influenced by marketing order changes are usually reflected in retail milk prices, local increases in milk prices are looked for.

Current prices of milk in Escanaba are 46 cents per half gallon in most outlets and 24 cents a quart. The prices had been unchanged for more than 5 years until increases of one cent a quart and 2 cents a half gallon six months ago.

The Department of Agriculture acted to post the minimum prices for milk and thus guarantee more income to producers because of concern about decreasing production. Milk has become a marginal profit item and thousands of dairy farmers are retiring from the business yearly because there is no profit in it.

A finding of recent milk marketing order hearings was that "the parity prices of milk are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and the minimum prices specified in the order will reflect these factors and insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest."

33 Cent Gain

There are three federal milk marketing orders in Michigan and 70 in the rest of the U.S.

Milk production has been going down all over the country—including Michigan—and there is a clear danger, says the Michigan Milk Producers Association — bargaining agent for most U. P. milk producers—of a milk shortage unless something is done.

"It is hoped that better prices for farmers will prevent a shortage," says MMPA. "There has to be a profit in producing milk or farmers will turn to something else."

MMPA testified in the federal order hearing for the U.P. in St. Louis, supporting the testimony of the National Milk Producers Federation. It asked an average across-the-board price increase to farmers of 45 cents a hundredweight on Class 1 milk.

The big dairy companies at the hearing stressed that a 45 cents a hundredweight increase to farmers would equal a penny a quart increase to consumers. "We think that milk is still the consumer's best bargain, even if the price goes up a penny a quart," said President Glenn Lake of MMPA.

Vernon Bingham, director of marketing for MMPA, testified for U. P. members and asked for an increase of 50 cents a hundredweight in the Class 1 price. The Zone 1 increase for July over the June price is 33 cents.

Keep Grass Cut, Residents Told

Keep those vacant lots and other grass plots mowed and the Escanaba community will be a safer and more sightly place in which to live.

This is the message of Fire Chief Nels Bergeon to property owners who allow vacant areas to grow rank with weeds, grass and brush. Children playing in such places are exposed to danger by being cut or injured on hidden objects, or later in the year the dry growth can become a fire hazard, he said.

Beginning this week the fire chief will make a survey of weed, grass and brush sites in the city, list their location. The owners of the property will be advised to have the areas cleared by mowing, to conform to the city ordinance.

Failure to comply with the request of the fire chief will result in the names of the property owners being turned over to City Manager George Harvey, who will invoke enforcement of the ordinance.

The ordinance requires that glass plots growing along any public street or alley must be kept mowed by the owner of the abutting property. Should the weeds or grass be allowed to grow to more than 10 inches in height the area will be considered neglected, and if the owner refuses to mow the area after being notified in writing, mowing will be done by the city.

The cost of the mowing to the city will be certified by the city treasurer and will become a lien upon the property. It will be included in the next tax bill, and collected in the same manner as taxes against the property. If the work is done by the city the cost will be about $50 per lot, said Fire Chief Bergeon.

Parade Results In From Bark River's July 4 Celebration

Tom Swifts float won the most beautiful division in the Bark River Fourth of July parade. Gamble's store came in second. In the comical section, Adam's Grocery took first and Brzybowski's Potato Farm took second place. Of the business division, Ken's Service was best followed by Derocher's Market.

In the bicycle competition, Joseph Knauf was first and second was Douglas Anderson. In the horse division, the Prospector's won.

In the raffle, prizes were awarded to Frank Emmons, Escanaba, Andrew Bart, Marquette, Harold Larson, Bark River, the Big R Cafe in Powers; Joseph DeGroot of Northland, Michael Lindquist, Bark River; Herman Deroum, Escanaba, and Ernest Zeno, Escanaba. These people may pick up their award at Ken's Service Station in Bark River.

The events were sponsored by the Bark River Volunteer Fire Department. Sunday night there was a dance at the Community Hall and Monday there was a fireworks display at Pulaski Park.

Scouting Career Boys Sought

Joseph Wyckoff, assistant to the chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, will be visiting the Hiawathaland Council, B. S. A. on July 11-14, according to Scout Executive Chuck Foreman.

Main purpose of his visit will be to interview men in this area who are interested in becoming full-time, professional Scouters.

"There are immediate positions nearby and across the country for men interested in this career," Foreman said. "In the Hiawathaland (U. P.) Council, the four professional Scouters work with 1500 volunteer adult leaders to bring Scouting to the 5,269 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorers who belong to the 180 Scout units sponsored by community organizations in the area."

He suggested that men interested in a career Scouting interview call Bay De Noc Community College, 786-5802, Ext. 21 to take advantage of Wyckoff's visit. Wyckoff will visit Iron Mountain the 11th, Marquette and K. I. Sawyer the 12th, Escanaba the 13th, and Sault Ste. Marie and Kincheloe AFB the 14th.

Anterless Kill Cut Expected

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Conservation Commission is expected to order a reduction in doe and fawn quotas Friday when it sets this season's deer hunting regulations.

The commission will consider cutbacks proposed by the game department when it meets at the Higgins Lake Conservation school.

Legislation enacted in 1965 calls for another split season this year. It will run from Nov. 12-27 in the Upper Peninsula and from Nov. 19-Dec. 4 in the Lower Peninsula.

A substantial cut in the antlerless deer quota is in the offing following hunter complaints that too many does and fawns were killed last year.

Department game experts are suggesting a 37 per cent reduction in doe and fawn quotas in northern areas. The consensus of eight citizens' advisory committees on deer is that antlerless deer quotas should be reduced 43 per cent.

The game men are recommending a 47 per cent reduction in the Northern Lower Peninsula quota and a 12 per cent cut in the Upper Peninsula.

Surveyor I Is 'Talking Back'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists, after days of trying, reestablished contact today with Surveyor 1, the photo-snapping spacecraft on the moon. It had been silent during the two-week frigid lunar night, and experts feared its battery might be dead.

Surveyor quickly began "talking back" this morning after the heat of lunar day revived it.

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the feat was established and a series of engineering questions was sent to the spacecraft concerning temperature and voltages aboard. Surveyor began answering, dutifully.

Late tonight or early Thursday, when the Goldstone, Calif., tracking station can take over communication, an attempt may be made to reactivate Surveyor's cameras, which sent thousands of pictures of the moon's surface back to earth.

The cameras went dead and communication ended about three weeks ago when the lunar night set in, bringing temperatures down to nearly 260 degrees below zero.

THIS GROWING-UP BUSINESS

A home-delivery newspaper route is a "growing up business" unlike any other. It alone provides a youngster with an opportunity to put muscle into what he is taught in school, by putting him in a part-time business where he buys at wholesale and sells at retail; serves all kinds of people; keeps his own records; makes his own collections; and discovers the rewards of salesmanship.

Here he learns, before his classmates, the importance of responsibility, self-reliance, punctuality and courtesy, and adopts right attitudes about what will be essential to his future success.

Encouraged by parents who realize the many benefits which come from route management and by men who are interested in and trained to work with boys, he will some day look back on his newspaper route experience and say "This was when I really started growing up".

If you have a son or know of a youngster who might similarly profit by having newspaper route experience, phone or write to our Circulation Department.

Swift May Protest

Angels Hand Tigers Fourth Loss In Row

DETROIT (AP)—Accusations, a protest and a three-run homer by a player brought into the game because of a freak injury all played a part in sending the Tigers to their fourth straight loss Tuesday night.

Joe Adcock delivered the homer, following singles by Ed Kirkpatrick and Jim Fregosi, in the sixth inning and the Angels held off a late Tigers' rally to win, 4-3.

Acting Manager Bob Swift said he felt Angels' starter Dean Chance deliberately threw at Willie Horton and Al Kaline.

"I'm sure Bill Rigney doesn't order his pitchers to throw at rival batter's heads," Swift said. "But I'm sure Chance threw at those two.

"I don't know what gets into a pitcher sometime. It sure doesn't take any nerve to throw at a guy's head. I never order my pitchers to do it, but you have to protect your own players."

Swift played the game under protest — although he said he would talk with General Manager Jim Campbell before filing it officially — when Rigney brought in thirdbaseman Paul Schaal and pitcher Lew Burdette at the same time.

Swift claimed Schaal was allowed too many warmup throws.

"The rule says an incoming player—outside of a pitcher—is allowed five throws. I don't know how many he took but I counted 10. I don't know how many he had before I started to count," Swift explained.

Adcock came into the game in the fourth inning after Norm Siebern pulled a muscle in his right leg while running out a run-scoring single. The hit followed a single by Jose Cardenal and a sacrifice.

"Siebern caught his spike as he started to run and pulled something high on the leg," Rigney said. "We really don't know how serious it is."

Ironically, an error by Schaal in the ninth inning almost gave the Tigers a chance to win the game.

He fumbled Bill Freehan's grounder with two outs in the ninth and Don Wert followed with a single. Burdette retired pinchhitter Jake Wood on a grounder to third for the final out.

Chance held the Tigers to two hits through the first six innings.

Kaline doubled to open the seventh and Jim Northrup hit a two-run homer.

The Tigers added their final run in the eighth inning on a walk to Dick Mcauliffe, an infield grounder and a single by Norm Cash.

Denny McLain, now 12-4 suffered his first loss since the Angels beat him June 4.

Freehan said Adcock hit a good pitch and didn't think it would get out of the park. "It was right on the inside corner—right where Denny wanted it. But Adcock's pretty powerful," Freehan said.

Tiger Tales

DETROIT (AP)—Don't mention "Home Sweet Home" to the Tigers.

Tiger Stadium has been anything but, so far this season.

While they possess an unbelievable 26-9 record on the road, Tuesday night's loss brought their record at home to 20-23.

California assured itself of winning the series with its second straight victory. The Tigers have not won a series at home since the first week of June when they swept a three-game set with Boston.

Both California Manager Bill Rigney and Tigers Acting Manager Bob Swift were in agreement that American League players made the right choice when they picked the Angels' Bobby Knoop at second base.

"Did you see those plays he turned in tonight?," Rigney asked. "There's just no stopping him."

Knoop went far to his left to pick up a grounder by Norm Cash and threw to Dean Chance at first to get him out.

In the eighth, he short-circuited a Tiger rally when he dove for Jerry Lumpe's sharp grounder and recovered to throw him out while Dick McAuliffe took second. McAuliffe later scored the final Detroit run.

"That Knoop has made at least five great plays in this series," Swift said. "He's a great one. That's what he's there for, but it's a little hard to take when he keeps on doing it against you."

The Tigers, who led the league in complete games last year, have not seen their starting pitcher go the full nine innings since June 22 when Mickey Lolich beat Washington, 6-1.

Koufax Is Halfway To 30-Game Season

By The Associated Press

Sandy Koufax is halfway to a 30-game season, and Woody Fryman is just about halfway to Sandy Koufax.

Koufax gave up 10 hits Tuesday night but still won his 15th game as Los Angeles edged Cincinnati 1-0.

Koufax' victory gave him No. 15 earlier than ever before. En route to a 26-victory season last year, the 30-year-old left-hander posted his 15th on July 11.

The record of the Dodger ace now reads only three losses, 15 complete games in 20 starts, three shutouts and a 1.51 earned run average.

Fryman, meanwhile, has compiled a 7-3 mark and a 2.33 ERA while completing seven of 10 starts, the first of which he didn't make until May 13. By that time Koufax had started seven times.

And the 23-year-old left-hander actually gained his third shutout before Koufax, with all three coming in the last 10 days.

Fryman, playing in only his second year of professional ball, blanked Philadelphia on three hits, New York on one and Chicago on three. Following the one-hitter against the Mets, in which Fryman faced the minimum 27 batters, New York Manager Wes Westrum said:

"He's as fast as any left-hander I've seen in the league and faster than Sandy Koufax at a given time."

Fryman also has to be as stingy with walks as any left-hander in the league. He walked one batter Tuesday, which is the only base on balls he's allowed in three shutouts. Overall, he's averaging one walk every 7.7 innings while Koufax is averaging one every 5.4.

Although Koufax may reach 30 victories before Fryman gets 20, the Pirate youngster has one consolation. He's outhitting Koufax seven to two.

In other National League games St. Louis stopped San Francisco 3-1, Philadelphia defeated New York 3-1 and Atlanta downed Houston 9-4.

In the American League, California edged Detroit 4-3, Minnesota nipped Cleveland 4-3 and Boston whipped New York 7-1. Rain washed out Chicago at Washington.

The Dodgers got Koufax a run in the second inning and he protected it the rest of the way. Jim Lefebvre walked, raced to third on John Roseboro's single and scored as John Kennedy singled. Jim Maloney suffered his fourth defeat against nine victories.

Billy Williams got all three Chicago hits off Fryman, who stopped Ron Santo's hitting streak at 28 games. Donn Clendenon hit a two-run homer for the Pirates while Jose Pagan collected three doubles and drove in two runs.

Al Jackson pitched a two-hitter as St. Louis cut San Francisco's lead over the Pirates to 1½ games. Jackson, 8-6, retired the last 16 batters in a row. Tim McCarver homered for the Cardinals, and Lou Brock stole three bases and scored a run.

Philadelphia's Larry Jackson pitched a six-hitter and doubled home two runs against New York. His clutch double in the sixth put the Phillies ahead 2-1 and he scored the third run on a single by John Callison. Ed Kranepool drove in the Mets' run with a sacrifice fly.

Joe Torre batted in two runs with a homer and scored three times as Atlanta won its fourth straight. Torre led the attack against Houston's Mike Cuellar, who suffered his first setback after winning six games. Dave Nicholson homered twice and Jim Wynn once for the Astros.

Ron Clarke Sets Record

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Ron Clarke, the first runner to crack the 13-minute barrier for the three miles and the 28-minute barrier for 10,000 meters, again is exciting the track and field world.

The slim 29-year-old Australian regained the world mark in the 5,000 meters Tuesday with a blazing 13:16.6 and en route lowered the three-mile world record to 12:50.4.

An enthusastic crowd of 10,000 stood on its seats and cheered Clarke as he far outdistanced the field for his two world records at an international track and field meet.

The 12:50.4 in the three-mile broke the world standard of 12:52.4 that Clarke set in London last July 10. The 13:16.6 for the 5,000 meters shattered the mark of 13:24.2, held by Kenya's Kipchoge Keino. The Kenya star had snatched the record from Clarke last Nov. 30 at Auckland, N.Z., when he bettered the 13:25.8 set by the Aussie in Los Angeles June 2, 1965.

Bodo Tuemmler of West Germany set a good pace before dropping out after several laps. Clarke took over and turned the race into a one-man affair with the field more than 100 yards back. His finishing kick was such that he lapped two competitors.

Lebch Boguszewics of Poland finished second in 13:51.8 followed by Tony Cook of Australia in 13:52.6. Bill Baillie of New Zealand in 13:56.2, Keisuke Sawaki of Japan in 13:57.2, Bengt Nadje of Sweden in 14:09.8 and Nedo Farcic of Sweden in 14:12.2.

Owners Of AFL Teams Hold Detroit Meeting

DETROIT (AP) — American Football League owners were expected to discuss the recent merger with the National Football League at some length today after hearing a report on the basic facts of the move Tuesday.

The owners are holding their summer meeting here at the personal invitation of League President Ralph Wilson — a Detroiter who owns the Buffalo Bills.

Lamar Hunt, owner of the Kansas City Chiefs and chairman of the three-man AFL committee which helped formulate the merger with the NFL, presented the report to the owners.

"There was a lot of listening and very little discussion today," said Commissioner Al Davis after the three-hour initial meeting.

"This is the first meeting of all of the owners since the merger was announced and they and a lot of people are finding out that a lot of things can't be finalized in one or two meetings," Davis added.

Expansion plans, discussion of the AFL All-Star Game set-up and a report on questions asked by some of the players through their representative, Jack Kemp, are some of the other things on today's agenda.

Davis refused to discuss his future with the league. He assumed his duties in April, following the resignation of Joe Foss, but will lose the title when the leagues merge because NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle will rule over both leagues.

"I have made a decision but do not expect to be ready to announce it for 10 days to two weeks," Davis said.

Following the meeting here, which may not conclude until Thursday morning, the AFL will appoint a committee to meet with a similar NFL group to discuss various aspects of the merger including site of a championship game.

Senior Citizens From California Are Not Yet Ready For Medicare

By The Associated Press

Medicare is here but Joe Adcock and Lew Burdette aren't quite quite ready for it, thank you.

California's two leading senior citizens worked the Detroit Tigers over Tuesday night and handed that young whippersnapper, Denny McLain, his first loss in over a month.

Adcock walloped a three-run homer, his third in three days, and Burdette slammed the door on Detroit rallies in the eighth and ninth innings as the Angels whipped the Tigers 4-3.

Both of the elderly Angels started the game on the bench. Adcock got into the line-up in the fourth after Norm Siebern hurt his right leg running out a single. Burdette was in the bullpen until the eighth when starter Dean Chance and reliever Minnie Rojas ran into trouble.

Adcock, who at 39 is playing in his 17th major league season, hammered his 10th homer of the season in the sixth. That gave the Angels a 4-0 lead but the Tigers fought back, knocking out Chance in the eighth.

Rojas came on and gave up a run-scoring single to Norm Cash before Burdette, who'll be 40 in November, retired Al Kaline, ending the threat.

Burdette, who starred at Milwaukee for 10 seasons with Adcock, got into a jam in the ninth when Paul Schaal booted Bill Freehan's two-out bouncer and Don Wert singled. But he got Jake Wood on a grounder, ending it.

In the only other American League games played Tuesday, Boston ripped New York 7-1 as Darrel Brandon won his first major league game, and Minnesota edged Cleveland 4-3. Chicago and Washington were rained out.

In the National League, Philadelphia downed New York 3-1, Atlanta ripped Houston 9-4, St. Louis shaded San Francisco 2-1, Pittsburgh shut out Chicago 6-0 and Los Angeles edged Cincinnati 1-0.

Burdette has been the workhorse of the California relief staff with a 4-1 record in 32 appearances. He has a 3.27 earned run average.

McLain, who hadn't lost since June 4, was the victim of Adcock's homer, the 21st he has allowed this season. The 22-year-old Detroit ace, who was three when Burdette and Adcock broke into professional ball, lost his fourth game in 16 decisions.

Brandon, making only his second start for the Red Sox, pitched a six-hitter and contributed a triple and a single to the Boston attack against the Yankees.

Rico Petrocelli drove in three runs on three hits including a homer and George Smith tagged a three-run shot.

Ted Uhlaender doubled home the tying run for the Twins in the seventh and Harmon Killebrew's sacrifice fly brought home the winner as Minnesota edged Cleveland.

Tony Oliva whacked his 16th homer for Minnesota while Rocky Colavito and Chuck Hinton connected for the Indians.

Young Pitchers Land Berths On All-Star Staff

BOSTON (AP (AP) — A young staff of eight pitchers, including four chosen for the first time, was named to the American League All-Star team today to face the National League in the annual midsummer baseball classic July 12 at St. Louis.

Minnesota Manager Sam Mele, who earned the honor of leading the American All-Stars by piloting the Twins to the pennant last season, picked a pitching squad of four right-handers and four left-handers with an average age of 25.

Mele, whose choices were announced by league headquarters, named two Cleveland pitchers, and one each from Detroit, Baltimore, Minnesota, Kansas City, Washington and New York. Pitchers for the California Angels, Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox were bypassed.

The right-handers selected were Gary Bell of Cleveland, Denny McLain of Detroit, Jim Hunter of Kansas City and Mel Stottlemyre of New York. The southpaws were Sam McDowell of the Indians, Steve Barber of Baltimore, Jim Kaat of the Twins and Pete Richert of Washington.

McLain, Kaat, Barber and Hunter were named to the team for the first time. McDowell was the losing pitcher in a 6-5 defeat by the National League last year, when he was nicked for the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning.

Bell was tagged for two runs in three innings in the All-Star Game in 1960, while Stottlemyre did not see action as a member of the American squad last year.

Bell is the oldest of the eight at 29, Hunter, 20, is the youngest, McLain is 22, McDowell 23, Stottlemyre 25, Richert 26, Barber 27 and Kaat 28.

The selection of McDowell and Stottlemyre surprised some observers. McDowell has a 6-2 record, but the young fire-baller has been sidelined much of the season by arm trouble. Stottlemyre has a 7-9 record with the second division Yankees.

McLain boasts the most victories with a 12-4 record. Barber has a 9-2 mark with the league-leading Orioles. Kaat, who won 18 games last year, is 10-6, while Bell, reconverted to a starter, is 8-4.

Hunter, who hasn't had much time to spend his $75,000 bonus, is 8-6 as a major league sophomore, while Richert, a National League castoff, owns an 8-8 record.

The starting fielders were chosen in balloting by managers, players and coaches. The remainder of the 25-player squad, coaches, batting practice pitchers etc. will be announced Friday.

Nicklaus Takes Early Lead In British Open

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) —Jack Nicklaus fired a one-under par 70 today and surged into the lead in the first round of the 72-hole British Open Golf Championship. The husky blond from Columbus, Ohio, is the favorite to win this tournament for the first time.

The 26-year-old Masters champion scored 37-33, playing the back nine of the Muirfield course first. He was two-under-par on the back nine and one-over-par for the first nine.

Nicklaus had a stroke lead on Doug Sanders, the colorful California pro, and Ronnie Shade, the Scottish amateur champion. They each matched par with 71s.

Arnold Palmer, two-time winner of the title from Latrobe, Pa., Australia's Bruce Devlin, and England's Michael Bonallack, all fired two-over-par 73s over the 6,887-yard par 36-35—71 Muirfield course. Bob Charles, the 1963 winner from New Zealand, had a 74.

Bobby Cole, the 18-year-old South African who won the recent British Amateur, scored an eagle two on the second hole and was two-under-par after six holes.

Sanders missed a chance to break par when his three-foot putt for a birdie on the 18th slid an inch past the cup. The flamboyant pro from Ojai, Calif., scored 36-35.

Palmer, winner of the British Open in 1961 and 1962, had 37-36, with a round that included four bogeys, two birdies and 12 pars. He was in the rough five times.

Ten Americans were in the field of 130 pros and amateurs for the four-day, 72-hole grind.

Tokyo Olympic Pool Sinking

TOKYO (AP) — The Tokyo Olympics most striking structure designed by Japan's world famed architect, Kenzo Tange, is cracking, creaking, leaking and sinking today, only two years after it was built.

It is the 15,000-seat swimming pool which has a scallop-shaped roof supported by huge cables suspended across two pillars.

The construction, costing $6,300,000, was rushed to meet the 1964 Olympics opening deadline.

County Developing Striptowns

Industry Competes For Farm Labor

Delta County is moving into a new era of growth with more planning power than it has ever had, and with need to guide its growth into good channels, the Delta County Extension staff reports in offering a program plan for 1966-67.

The staff is headed by Joseph L. Heirman, Delta Extension director; Larry Bradford, 4-H youth agent, and Ingrid Tervonen, home economist.

Reviewing the changes in the county's agriculture, the report that agriculture still is important in the overall development of the county and that it can increase in importance if farmers "are given a chance to make a reasonable return on their investment."

"With increased employment the number of families will increase and these increases, to a large extent, will be found outside the cities if present trends continue. These are people who will be interested in some outdoor living. Gardening will be one of their activities. For the most part these will be younger families and they should offer opportunities for 4-H Club and family living programs."

Industry Competes

The Extension staffers say "While we are experiencing one of the most prosperous eras in the last 20 years, we still have plenty of low-income families who need attention from our family living program."

And the adult educators of the staff note that agriculture will be competing more and more with industry for labor and that recently announced expansions by two industries in Delta County will take 500 men "This will entice some would-be farmers to seek employment in new jobs," the report says. It will also make less labor available to the larger farm units that have been hiring extra help.

"We find that the population growth — which is small — is taking place outside the cities in adjacent townships. There are no overall plans and so the building is sporadic, causing ribbon town developments along county roads.

Planners Hired

"The county has hired a planning firm to do comprehensive planning for the county. This will bring about better land use and a systematic development which in the long run will help the county tax base. The Extension Service will assist in the development of the overall plan."

The report says that while there was a decrease in the number of farms in the county from 612 to 526 in the five years from 1959 to 1964, there was a $750,000 increase in the value of produce sold, which means an additional income per farm of $2,000.

"We find ourselves with as much livestock as we had 5 years ago, but with fewer dairy animals and more beef animals. The fewer dairy cows produced almost as much milk because the average milk production per cow was up almost 1,000 pounds per cow a year.

Livestock Gains

"The greatest increase in farm income came from increases of livestock. There was also a small increase in the sale of crops and poultry. We have more eggs produced by one commercial poultry farm than we once produced with 250 family-sized flocks. With poultry farming and mink ranching the story was the same as with other agricultural enterprises—fewer units and larger. A few of the larger mink farmers are now pelting out over 5,000 animals annually.

"On the negative side of the farm census report we made little progress in crop yields that are worthy of mention. We need to put more emphasis on growing better hay and pasture crops with higher yields. The use of fertilizer must be emphasized because the average usage per farm here is only two tons per year. We can increase our livestock load on the same acres by using fertilizer."

Dairying Declines

The specialists expect Delta to lose more dairy herds and to see enlargement of its best herds. Major problems of the industry are failure to keep production records unproductive pastures, and lack of insect control.

The beef enterprise is growing in a cow-calf program. Poor milk markets in the eastern half of Delta caused farmers to switch from dairy cows to beef animals and to seek off - the - farm employment. There's room for more beef herds in the county if there's good forage production and there may be some feeding of steers and heifers to standard grade in the future.

The local beef industry still needs better bulls in many herds, improved pasture and forage for cow-calf herds, more pasture fertilization and use of legumes; parasite control and cooperative marketing.

Poultrymen and mink farmers are both highly specialized and must keep up-to-date to compete with other areas.

Crops Static

Delta grows 1,000 acres of peas and snap beans for a canning factory market and over 500 acres of potatoes. This acreage can be increased and most likely will be, especially in potatoes as better markets develop. The acreage in peas and beans will not change a great deal, the report says, because the volume is controlled by what the canning plant can use, but there's a prospect of new crops for canning, such as sweet corn. Irrigation has become a "must" to grow the Burbank Russet potatoes, which now seem to be the accepted variety in the county.

Farm needs are more insect control in potato production, more disease control to increase production.

"For years there has been a dire need for a comprehensive countywide plan," the report says. "Some people would debate this because they feel that very little change is occuring. This is not true. We have had considerable change and expect that it will continue at an accelerated pace. Escanaba and Gladstone are doing intensive planning. The total program will take about two years.

Plans Needed

"As more industry develops in the cities, it will encourage rural development by people who like to live on the land. Proper planning now will greatly assist proper development in the future."

Delta has a potential of 8,188 boys and girls of 4-H age with 828 enrolled in club work. Many youths now belong to no organizations, "and it is felt this is due largely to the failure of existing organizations to meet their needs. A Delta County Youth Council is being proposed to give new directions in this effort.

Many families, especially limited resource and young families, lack information on management and an awareness of available resources for family living. It is the aim of Extensions family living program to help families make better use of their food dollars, help them with home furnishing, provide guidelines on achievement of family goals, reach more families with an educational program.

Tourism Could Grow 300% Says State U Expert

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan's outdoor recreation and tourist industry could grow by 300 per cent in the next 15 years if the state develops imaginative tourist programs, a Michigan State University specialist says.

David Milstein questioned whether Michigan has enough of such places as Interlochen and Mackinac Island to match imaginative developments elsewhere, such as Colorado's Aspen, California's Palm Springs or the European tourist areas.

"Imaginative programs appear crucial if Michigan is to maintain or expand its share of Upper Great Lakes tourism and outdoor recreation in the face of this growing competition," Milstein said.

The larger, more modern tourist enterprises are receiving the largest share of the growth in expenditures for outdoor recreation, and this trend is likely to continue, he said.

Plots Come Out Of News Report

By BUCK HENRY

EDITOR'S NOTE — Buck Henry is one of the pair of comedy writers who dreamed up NBC's hit "Get Smart." But some television viewers will remember him as the bespectacled young man who played in some of the funniest satiric sketches of "That Wes the Week That Was."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —In the past year several people have expressed their enthusiasm for "Get Smart" by directing the following question to its writers: "Where do you get those wild ideas?"

There is, of course, one simple answer: "We steal them." Sometimes from each other but, more often, from that endless compendium of unbelievable nonsense: the newspaper.

The faithful reader knows that Maxwell Smart, Secret Agent 86, can have no adventure more absurd, no experience more asinine, or no idea more inane than that which is chronicled in the daily Times-Journal-Sun Globe-News. It's not the newspapers' fault—it's just the way folks ARE.

In the pilot film of "Get Smart," we had a maniacal crew of KAOS bad guys attempt to blow up the Statue of Liberty. Several of the script's first critical readers thought that the plot was a little—well—far out.

But a few months after we wrote it a quartet of young Canadian dissidents—none of whom, to my knowledge, had read the script—were caught plotting to give the old lady a dynamite hot-foot. I don't know whether they were inspired by political tension or esthetic distaste, But I am grateful to them for proving that nothing we write is going to be any wackier than something that is actually being done.

Plot: Our man Smart infiltrated a KAOS cell and, after demolishing its dozen members, discovered that they were all, like himself, infiltrators from various government agencies. Item: A Communist cell, broken up some years ago, was found to contain a majority of FBI agents.

Plot: Smart investigated a band of American Indians who were reputed to have set up a deadly missile aimed at the heart of Washington. The missile turned out to be giant arrow. Item: GIs in Viet Nam recently overran a Viet Cong position and confiscated several giant arrows that were being used to knock down helicopters.

Looking for a plot? Try some of the events that are happening within earshot—or is it eyeshot—of this column:

Would you believe that there is a bomb being developed by one of our more surrealistic corporations that, when dropped on the enemy, doesn't destroy anything—it merely makes a mind-joggling boom?

Would you believe that a young man has found new happiness taking daily LSD trips with his pet pussycat?

Would you believe that there's a woman in Cardiff, Wales, who has sat through the film, "The Sound Of Music," over 500 times.

And they said that satire was dead.

Deer Hunt Set This Week

Expected To Dupe 1965's

Michigan's five conservation commissioners will meet in downstate Higgins Lake this week to put the final touches on the state's 1966 deer hunting regulations.

After all the furor in the Legislature over antlerless deer hunting, it appears that the 1966 rules will shape up pretty much as they did last year — except that antlerless deer quotas will be cut back rather sharply and some areas in Northern Michigan will be closed to the taking of deer of any age or sex.

The Senate's effort to provide a two-year moratorium on antlerless deer hunting was killed on the House floor. It was tacked on an omnibus conservation measure as an amendment, and the entire package went down the drain, including a provision for another elk season in the northern Lower Peninsula this year.

As matters now stand, the commission will be confronted with deer season recommendations presented by the Michigan Conservation Department staff and by eight Citizens' Advisory Committees on Deer. The committees, for all practical purposes, have endorsed the staff recommendations.

Three of the four committees in the Upper Peninsula fully endorsed the department's proposals. The lone exception was the Crystal Falls District Committee (covering Iron, Dickinson and Menominee counties), which pared down the department's antlerless deer quota for Dickinson County by about 350 animals.

Thus, for the Upper Peninsula it appears that the commissioners this week will accept these recommendations of the department: An antlerless deer kill of 16,355, about 12 per cent below last year's quota, and the elimination of antlerless deer hunting in that part of the Keweenaw Peninsula north of the Portage Canal.

As proposed by the department, about 63,000 antlerless deer hunting permits would be issued for the Upper Peninsula, about nine per cent fewer than last year. The region's "any deer" area would be reduced from 16,300 to 15,800 square miles.

The department's proposed quotas take account of the intense public criticism that followed last year's disappointing deer season, a factor which weighed heavily in reductions called for by the Crystal Falls district's citizens' committee.

For purposes of issuing antlerless deer hunting permits, the Upper Peninsula would be divided into 13 areas this year. Deadline for applying for "any deer" permits would be Sept. 30 and if the number of applications for any area exceeds the quota, a drawing would be held about Oct. 14 to determine which applicants will be awarded permits.

This spring's pellet survey conducted by the department indicated the deer population was down slightly in the Upper Peninsula, but deer seen per 100 hours of patrolling in U.P. deer areas by field men during May was up slightly.

But, the department said, "the mild winter, productivity studies and the general health level of the herd indicate that the lower spring population will be partly neutralized by the potential increase between now and the hunting season."

Hoffa Praises George Romney

DETROIT (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa praised Michigan Gov. George Romney while blasting former Gov. G. Mennen Williams at the Teamsters convention in Miami, Fla., a dispatch to the Detroit News said Tuesday.

Labor writer Jim Crellin said Hoffa declared in an interview that Romney, a Republican, has done "more for the working people in two terms than Soapy (Williams) did all the time he was in office."

Hoffa had expressed much the same feelings beforehand in Detroit.

Williams, a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate, served six terms as Michigan governor. Romney is seeking reelection to a third term.

Hoffa repeated that he would support Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh against Williams in the August Democratic primary but said he had not decided whether to endorse Romney in the general election, the News story said.

Reporter Crellin quoted Hoffa as saying "despite the fact he is a Republican, Romney has done a good job."

Action Needed This Year On Indiana Dunes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unless Congress acts at this session the Indiana Dunes Lakeshore may be lost forever as national park land, Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall claims.

"The Indiana dunes is one thing that must be resolved this year," Udall told a news conference, "because a year from now it may be one that we can't seriously consider as the options to act may be gone."

A bill to establish an Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore cleared the House Interior Committee Thursday, marking the first time the long-controversial project has been advanced to this stage in the House. A similar bill twice has passed the Senate.

Cedar River To Be Opened

Lamprey Weir To Be Removed

Glenn C. Gregg, U. P. manager of the Michigan Conservation Department, reports that the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service will remove the electric barrier across the Big Cedar River after its use this summer.

The shocker has been in use for years in the effort to prevent spawning runs of lampreys into the stream from Green Bay. The device is about two and a half miles upstream from the mouth of the famed bass stream on its first rapids and it has been described by fishermen as a reason for decline of bass fishermen's luck in the stream.

The war on the lampreys is being won by the predator control efforts, which has been relying more on chemical lampreycides than wiers to prevent spawning in rivers flowing into the Great Lakes.

"At the recent Great Lakes Fishery meeting at Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario," said Gregg "I learned that the electric barrier across the Big Cedar River is to be discontinued after the present season. This is good news to the Department and to those fishermen who have enjoyed fishing on the river for many years.

"It is the belief of most people that this again will allow the Big Cedar River to recovery some of its former good fishing. Certainly it should be a good test and we are going to watch it closely. The men are busy following the fish planting program as recommended by our fisheries biologists on this river and we have high hopes again for this excellent piece of water."

The Big Cedar has been designated by the Conservation Department for study and development as a sports fishery. Its upper waters provide trout fishing.

Good Breakfast Advice By Hal

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — A columnist counts that year lost in which he doesn't write at least one article telling young people how to live.

The trouble with most advice of this kind is that it consists of high-sounding platitudes. It isn't specific enough.

So, as my good deed for 1966, here are a series of down-to-earth suggestions that should help any young man live a longer and happier life:

Never marry a girl for her money unless she signs half of it over to you before the ceremony.

Try to associate with people who have qualities you admire. But also keep one bum as a friend, too. Seeing the mistakes he makes should help keep you from making them yourself.

Always keep your seat belt buckled while riding in airplanes or automobiles.

If you're not a "take-charge" type, don't go into business for yourself. You'll do better working for others.

Eat a good breakfast, a light lunch and a light dinner.

Don't put up with bad meals. Insist that your wife learn to be a really good cook. It'll make you both happier.

Don't go skiing after 30, or play tennis after 40, unless you can run a mile without exhaustion.

Buy shoes and shirts a half size larger than you need. You may be choking your mind and feet to death without knowing it.

If you have to take aspirin more than once a month, change your way of living.

Make your vacations real adventures. Avoid going to the same place more than two years in a row.

If your boss or your job make you desperately unhappy, change them both — but better do it before you are 35.

Ask for a raise in pay once a year, whether you need it or not, whether you get it or not. Unless you yourself think you are worth more to the firm, the firm won't either.

Listen carefully when anyone offers to give you an inside tip on the stock market, and write it down. Then tear up the paper, and forget it.

Walk three miles every day it isn't raining, and two miles when it is.

See a sunrise and read a poem at least once every week as long as you live.

If you can't tell your wife you love her when you come home tired from the office, tell her at breakfast the next morning. Sometimes that takes even more character.

Never buy more than three things at one time on the installment plan.

This advice, faithfully followed, may not make a young man a millionaire. But at least it should help keep him out of jail or the poorhouse. That's about all you can expect from free advice.

No Nobel Prize awards were given from 1940 through 1942.

Swims 440 Miles To Lose Weight; It Really Works

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Last winter, Russell Chaffee stepped on a scale and frowned when the needle came to rest at 232 pounds.

"Way too heavy," said Chaffee, who stands only 5-foot-8.

Dieting is very difficult for Chaffee, who admits, "I eat everything. That's my trouble." So he decided to take an easier way out — swimming the Susquehanna River, all 440 miles of it.

"Swimming consumes about 600 calories an hour," he said in an interview here after having gone about two-thirds of the way. "You can eat all you want if you swim long enough."

Chaffee, 39, a high school mathematics teacher from Sayre, Pa., has been swimming long distances for about 10 years.

Another reason for deciding to swim the river, he says, is to advertise its recreational values.

He began his swim June 14 at the river's headwaters near Cooperstown, N.Y. At every town where he climbed out of the water for the night, he has been warmly greeted by officials and local citizens. He hopes to reach the river's end at Havre de Grace, Md., July 11.

He is losing weight, too.
